Hello children! I am Bheem. My friends and I will be your fun-learning partners for the FREINDSHIP series!

Sharing is caring with read a story

Bheem and his friends were spending the day at the palace with Rajkumari Indumati. Raja Indravarma had gone to the city on some work and had brought some toys for all the children. He said, "You all get one toy, but you can all share your toys with each other as well." He distributed the toys and went away for some work.

Bheem got a train set, Chhutki got a pretty doll, Raju got a superhero action-figure, Jaggu got a stuffed toy, Dholu-Bholu got a football, and Kalia got a car toy. Everyone was very happy with the toys they had received! Dholu-Bholu started playing with their football, Bheem started playing with his train set, and Jaggu with his stuffed toy. Kalia played with his car for a while, but then he went over to Raju and demanded to play with his action-figure.

"Play with your own toy, Kalia. This is mine," said Raju. "No, I want to play with the action-figure now. Give it to me!" said Kalia. Raju and Kalia started fighting with each other. "Kalia, Raju! Why are you both fighting with each other?" asked Bheem. "Kalia was snatching my toy from me," said Raju. "Raju is not sharing his toy," said Kalia angrily. "The Raja said we can all play with ALL the toys."

Raja Indravarma had come back to watch the kids play and saw Raju and Kalia fighting. He said, "You both can share your toys with each other. Why are you fighting?" "I don't want to share my toy," said Raju angrily. Both the boys sat grumpily, unwilling to share their toys.

"Boys, you are friends. You should not fight with each other," said Indravarma. "Yes. You can play with all the toys. But, Kalia, you should ask Raju politely if you can play with his toy," said Chhutki. "And Raju, you should share your toys with others as well," said Bheem.

"Okay," said Raju and Kalia. "Raju, may I please play with your action-figure for a while?" asked Kalia. "Okay, Kalia. We can play with each other's toys for a while," said Raju. They both started playing together with the car and the action-figure and forgot what they were fighting about! At the end of the day, all the children went back home with their own toys, happily!
